LSE

Welcome to the Donors and Scholars Reception 2010

We are delighted to welcome you to LSE this evening to celebrate the continuing success of LSE's scholarship programme.

Our annual Donors and Scholars Reception provides those who have generously supported scholarships at the School with the opportunity to meet with current scholarship recipients and hear first hand about the impact that this support has made.

In the current academic year alone LSE has awarded around £13 million in scholarships, bursaries and awards to its student body. Of this total, £2.5 million has come from philanthropic gifts made by the School's alumni and friends. Thanks to this support and generosity, LSE was able to award scholarships to over 250 gifted students, enabling some of the most talented individuals from across the world to benefit from the opportunity of an LSE education.

By supporting the School's scholarship programme, you are helping to transform the lives of the students who you will meet today. Your generosity is an endorsement of and an investment in the policy makers, business champions and world leaders of the future who are determined to use the opportunity that you have given to them to become a force for positive change throughout the world.

Thank you for your support.
